A Message from the Menahel

הפעם אודה את ה'

As soon as Leah was זוכה to a fourth son, she showed her thanks by naming him Yehuda.

הז"ל tell us that from the beginning of creation until that time, no one had ever given such a thank you.

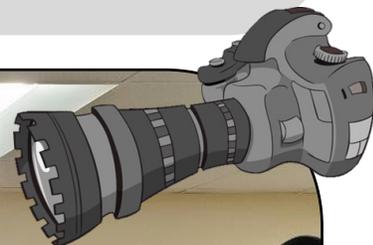

The מפרשים grapple to understand this puzzling statement and to identify what Leah did that was so original.

Rav Yaakov Yosef Herman זצ"ל is quoted as explaining that the originality displayed by Leah was that she devised a way to perpetually thank Hashem for this specific kindness. Each time she would mention Yehuda's name, she would be reminded to thank Hashem for his kindness. This original method to perpetually thank Hashem about just one of his kindnesses is what was so unique.

This month we are focusing on expressing our thanks with more than just our words. The talmidim at our Pre1a-3rd assembly came up with so many original ways to say and show their thank yous!

Like Leah אמינו, we are taking our thanks to a whole new level!

Read the story. Answer the questions.

Koalas

Koalas are mammals that live in forests in Australia. It is not correct to call them koala bears because they are not bears. They do have soft thick fur and ears with long white hairs on the tips. Koalas sleep during the day and eat at night. Koalas eat leaves and bark from different trees, but eucalyptus leaves are their favorite. Because koalas eat so many eucalyptus leaves, they often smell like certain kinds of cough drops. Female koalas have a pouch where a baby koala lives. A baby koala is called a joey.

1. What is the subject of this story?
koalas

2. What causes koalas to smell like cough drops?
eucalyptus leaves

3. Why do koalas eat at night?
because they are nocturnal

School Home Home Activity Your child identified causes and effects in a nonfiction story. Look for another nonfiction story about animals. Read a section of the story together. Help your child find a cause (reason for something happening) and an effect (the result of a cause).

Names Not Numbers Begins!

Our 8th Grade began their year-long project of interviewing survivors of the Holocaust and documenting their story in a professional film. We have so much appreciation to Mrs. Tova Rosenberg of Names Not Numbers for gifting us with this special opportunity. Special thanks to Cheder parent, Mr. Jeff Bloom for his coaching on how to conduct an interview!
